

LEADERSHIP DRIFT

SILENT, SLOW, AND COSTLY

If your leadership feels stuck, scattered, or stagnant, you're not imagining it, you're experiencing Leadership Drift. It's the slow leak of clarity, direction, and momentum. Every week you remain in drift, you lose influence, profit, and trust-and they don't return on their own. We don't just point it out. We stop it, reset it, and help you lead with purpose.

What Leadership Drift Looks Like

- Priorities change before you can finish setting them.
- Your team waits for you instead of acting on their own.
- Decisions drain your energy instead of fueling progress.
- The mission feels fuzzy, and momentum slows to a crawl.

This isn't burnout. It's a slow-motion leadership collapse, and it worsens if you ignore it.
